Blood in your pee? See your GP.

Bladder cancer affects thousands of people every year.

Early detection can reduce the risk of dying from bladder cancer.

If persistent, these symptoms should be checked out:

- Red or pink colour in your urine
- Pain or changes when urinating
- Frequency or urgency of urination
- Burning sensation when urinating
- Persistent urinary tract infections
- Incontinence

Don’t delay if you think something is wrong or different. It may not be cancer but for peace of mind, it’s worth seeing your GP.
Have you been affected by a diagnosis of bladder cancer?

On our website you’ll find really helpful information and videos from patients, carers and doctors to guide you throughout each stage of the journey:

- Symptoms
- Diagnosis
- Treatment
- Health and Wellbeing
- Support
- Life after Treatment

BEAT Bladder Cancer Australia is an Australian charity set up to help you to respond to and manage bladder cancer every step of the way.

"Anna was the inspiration for the creation of BEAT Bladder Cancer Australia. We are here because of her - to help prevent other families being torn apart by this disease."

- Adam Lynch, Anna’s husband and President of BEAT Bladder Cancer Australia Inc.